

The Superstitions In Britain

Many people are superstitious. They believe in unproven and mysterious facts

There are lots of different superstitions in Britain.

There are some table superstitions, some connected with wedding.

Animals play a great role in Britain's superstitions

Lucky Superstitions In Britain

On the first day of the month it's lucky to say "White rabbits"

Black cats are lucky

It is not common to kill spiders in the house, because these insects are believed to bring good luck and money

Lucky to find a clover plant with four leaves

To break the dishes is a good sign, it's said that it is to good luck

Catch falling leaves in autumn and you'll have good luck. Every leaf means a lucky month in the next year

The people in love usually cook salty food

Unlucky Superstitions In Britain

If you walk under the stairs, you'll have bad luck

Broken mirror leads to seven years of misery or seven disasters

Never open an umbrella in the house.
That's very bad luck

The number thirteen is unlucky and Friday the 13th is a very unlucky date

Unlucky to spill salt. If you do, you must throw it over your shoulder to counteract the bad luck

Tea Superstitions In Britain

Tea that is made a little stronger than normal means you are about to meet a new friend

You will have bad luck if you stir your tea with anything but a spoon

Throwing your used tea leaves onto the fire is good luck, and keeps poverty away

Sprinkling dry tea leaves on your front-door step protects your home from evil spirits

If there are bubbles in your teacup: near the edge of your cup means romance and kisses, if the bubbles are in the center of your cup it means money

Accidentally dropping loose-leaf tea in your house will bring you good luck

