

Meals. Pronouns.

- We are to refresh:
 - the topical vocabulary
 - the kinds of pronouns

A CLASS OF MILK FOR HER!

Waiter: So, young ladies, what's your final choice? Have you decided yet?

Ira: A lobster and some new potatoes, a salad, and some French beans. And some chicken, please.

Waiter: What about you, Miss?

Natasha: I think I'll get melon and grapefruit to start with, then roast beef and a prawn cocktail and some peas, please.

Waiter: Would you like Yorkshire pudding?

Natasha: No, thank you.

Ira: Excuse me, can you bring some red wine, too?

Waiter: Certainly, Miss.

Natasha: A glass of milk for her!

Waiter: And anything for dessert?

Natasha: Ice cream for me, please.

Waiter: We've got five kinds. Which one?

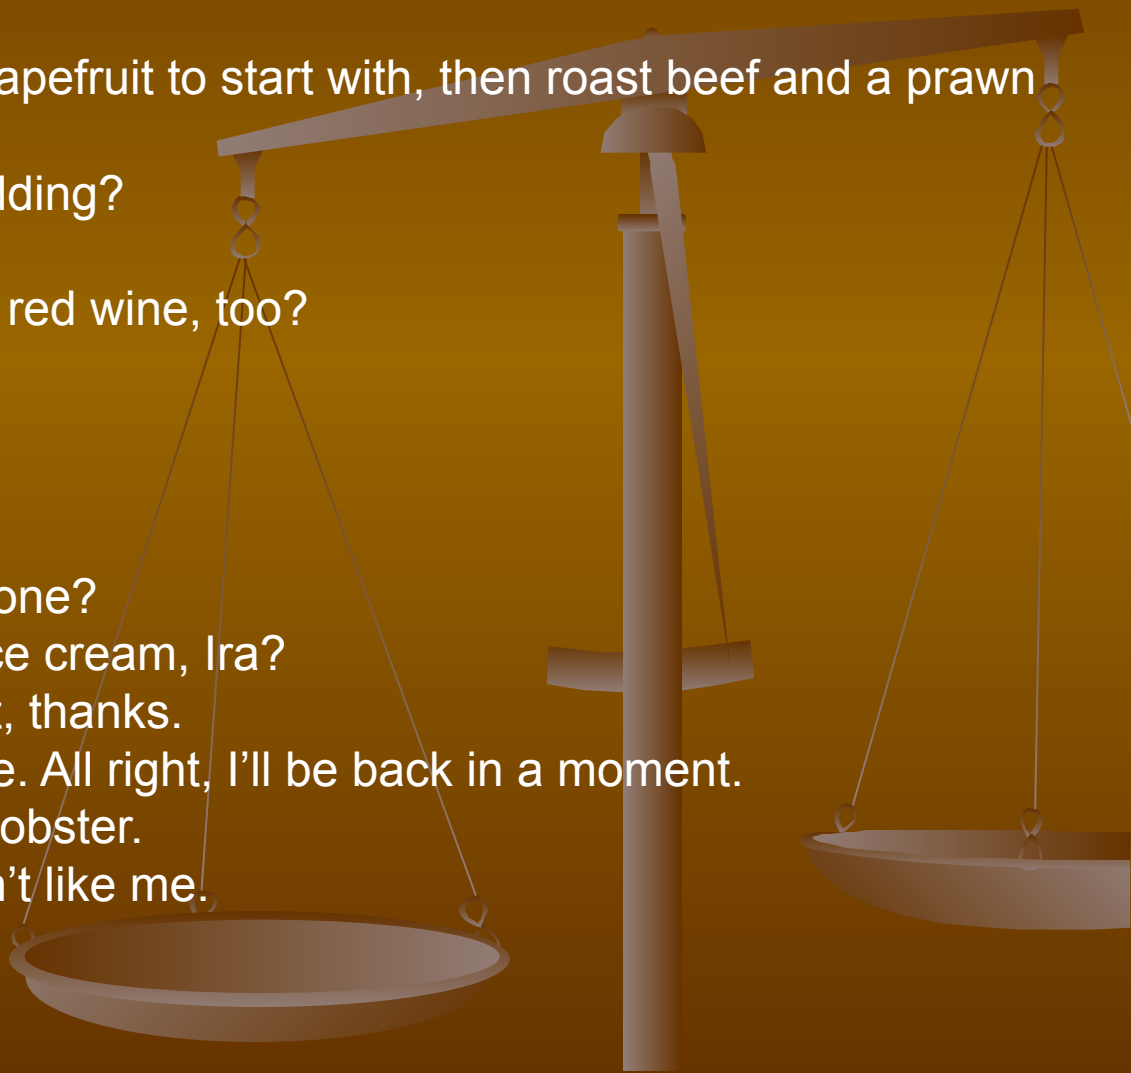

Natasha: Strawberry. Do you want ice cream, Ira?

Ira: I won't have anything for dessert, thanks.

Waiter: It looks like the order is made. All right, I'll be back in a moment.

Natasha: I never knew that you like lobster.

Ira: I absolutely do, I do! But it doesn't like me.

A GLASS OF MILK FOR HER!

Waiter: So, young ladies, what's your final choice? Have you decided yet?

Ira: A lobster and some new potatoes, a salad, and some French beans. And some chicken, please.

Waiter: What about you, Miss?

Natasha: I think I'll get melon and grapefruit to start with, then roast beef and a prawn cocktail and some peas, please.

Waiter: Would you like Yorkshire pudding?

Natasha: No, thank you.

Ira: Excuse me, can you bring some red wine, too?

Waiter: Certainly, Miss.

Natasha: A glass of milk for her!

Waiter: And anything for dessert?

Natasha: Ice cream for me, please.

Waiter: We've got five kinds. Which one?

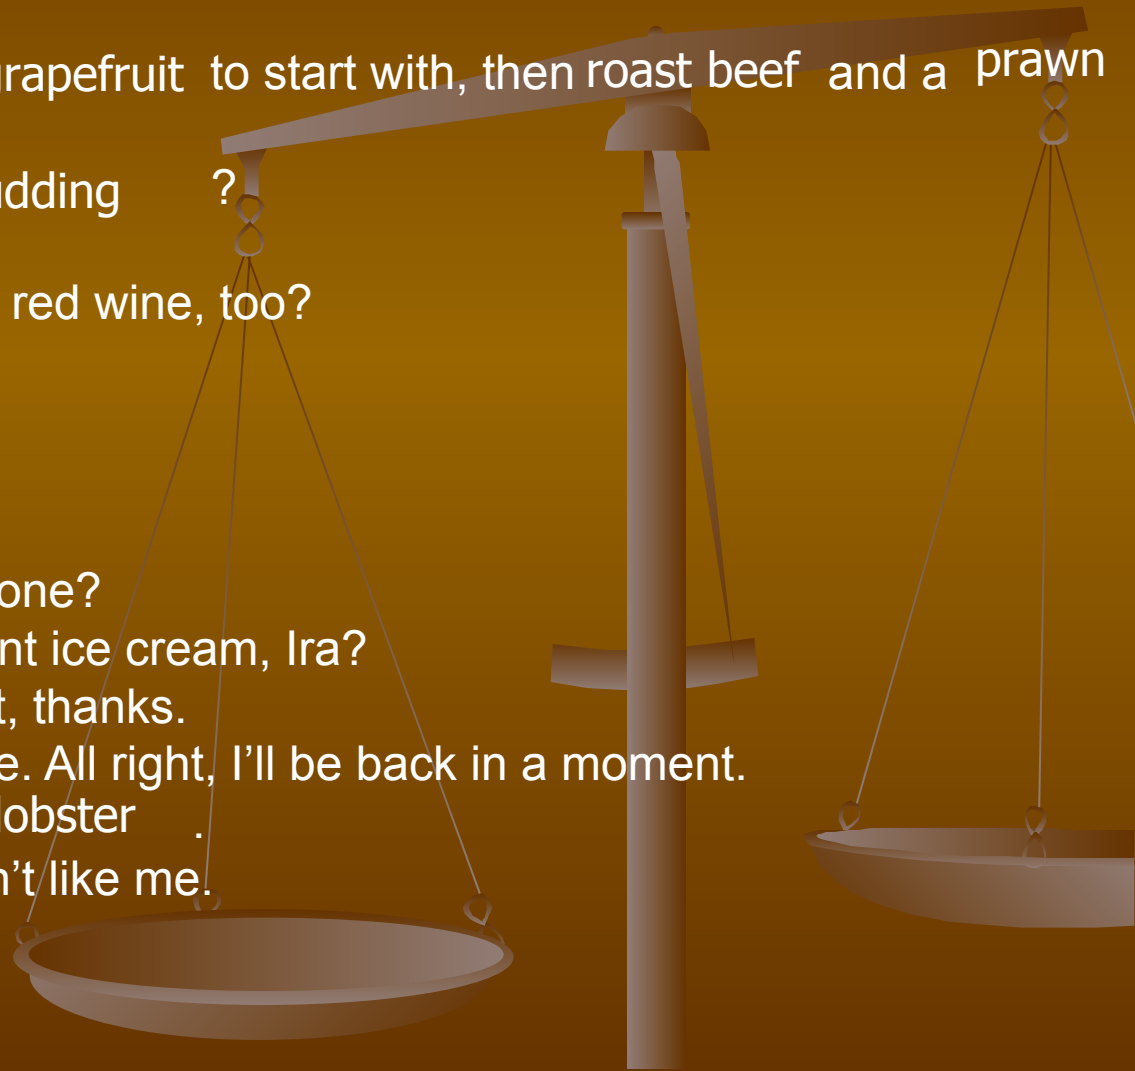

Natasha: Strawberry. Do you want ice cream, Ira?

Ira: I won't have anything for dessert, thanks.

Waiter: It looks like the order is made. All right, I'll be back in a moment.

Natasha: I never knew that you like lobster.

Ira: I absolutely do, I do! But it doesn't like me.

PRONOUN

Pro-

■ за, для,
вместо

Noun

■ существительное

A GLASS OF MILK FOR HER !

Waiter: So, young ladies, what's your final choice? Have you decided yet?

Ira: A lobster and some new potatoes, a salad, and some French beans. And some chicken, please.

Waiter: What about you, Miss?

Natasha: I think I'll get melon and grapefruit to start with, then roast beef and a prawn cocktail and some peas, please.

Waiter: Would you like Yorkshire pudding?

Natasha: No, thank you.

Ira: Excuse me, can you bring some red wine, too?

Waiter: Certainly, Miss.

Natasha: A glass of milk for her!

Waiter: And anything for dessert?

Natasha: Ice cream for me, please.

Waiter: We've got five kinds. Which one?

Natasha: Strawberry. Do you want ice cream, Ira?

Ira: I won't have anything for dessert, thanks.

Waiter: It looks like the order is made. All right, I'll be back in a moment.

Natasha: I never knew that you like lobster.

Ira: I absolutely do, I do! But it doesn't like me.

личные	притяжательные	указательные	неопределённые	вопросительные
I (we)	my (our)	this	some	who
You (you)	your (your)	these	any	whom
He, she, it (they)	his, her, its (their)	that	no	whose объектный падеж (кому)	абсолютная форма	those	something anything nothing	what me (us)	mine (ours)	such	somebody anybody nobody	which
You (you)	yours	the same	someone anyone none	how many
him, her, it (them)	theirs		every every...	how much many much few, little

Traditional English Breakfast

Nowadays English Breakfast

Traditional Russian Dish

Ingredients:

- potatoes
- meat
- beetroot
- cabbage
- onions
- tomatoes

Let's ...

Let's ...

Let's ...

While it boils, let's...

Let's ...

Let's ...

Let's

...

Let's ...

Let's ...

Let them ...

Let's

...

To your taste you may add

Serve with ...

Pudding

Pudding

1st Sunday in February

BRITISH

YORKSHIRE PUDDING

DAY

Recipes4us.co.uk

A Great British Tradition!

