

Welcome to London

Here are some ideas of places to visit on your day out..

Covent Garden

There's a big market at Covent Garden, but there isn't a garden! You can buy all kinds of presents and souvenirs. There are also some nice shops and cafes here.

Harrods

Harrods is a famous department store. It's got 330 different departments, including an enormous supermarket. You can have lunch here - there are 18 bars and restaurants. There's even a traditional English pub!

Buckingham Palace

The Queen
sometimes lives at Buckingham Palace,
opposite St James'
Park. There are 775
rooms in the Palace,
but you can't visit all of them!

Trafalgar Square

In the middle of Trafalgar Square, there's a statue of Admiral Nelson. It's called "Nelson's Column" and it's 56 metres tall. The National Gallery is next to Trafalgar Square.

The Globe

The Globe is a modern version of Shakespeare's theatre. It's similar to the original theatre from 1599. It's next to the river Thames.

Museums

At the British museum, there are some amazing Egyptian mummies. But if you want to see dinosaurs, go to the Natural History Museum. There's a big dinosaur gallery there.

Read and choose the correct words:

- 1. Harrods is a department store \ market.
- 2. There are \ aren't Egyptian mummies at the British Museum.
- 3. Shakespeare's Globe is a theatre \ cathedral.
- There are 77 \ 775 rooms in Buckingham Palace.

Check your answers:

- 1. Harrods is a department store \ market.
- 2. There are \ aren't Egyptian mummies at the British Museum.
- 3. Shakespeare's Globe is a theatre \ cathedral.
- There are 77 \ 775 rooms in Buckingham Palace.

Answer the questions:

- 1. How many departments has Harrods got?
- 2. Where can you see dinosaurs in London?
- 3. Where is the Globe?
- 4. Which park is opposite Buckingham Palace?
- 5. How tall is Nelson's Column?
- 6. What can you do at Covent Garden?
- 7. Where is Nelson's Column?
- 8. Where can you buy presents in London?

A decorative red arrow points to the right at the top left. Below it, several thin, curved lines in shades of grey and black sweep across the left side of the slide.

Do you remember these landmarks in Britain? You have read about them. What country are they in?

□ Look at the photos and answer the questions.

Edinburgh Castle

How old is it?

The Millennium Stadium

What is it used for?

St Peter's Cathedral

What has it got above the door?

The National Gallery

How many paintings has the Gallery got?

The London Eye

“The Angel of the North”

