- When I 1) gave up smoking I 2) put on a lot of weight and my doctor told me to 3) go on a diet and to 4) take up a sport or a hobby. So, I 5) cut down on sweets and joined a gym where I could 6) work out every morning. Unfortunately, I hurt my back on the rowing machine, so I stopped going. When I 7) got over my backache, I took up jogging. At first, it was great, but then I felt dizzy and I got a pain in my leg. Stupidly, I 8) kept on running and I twisted my ankle.

- The next thing I tried was hill walking, but I got lost in a storm. The next day I had a terrible cold and a sore throat, and I couldn't stop coughing and sneezing. I also had terrible blisters on my feet.

Then I went skiing. It was fun, but after the first day my knees were swollen, and on the second day I fell and broke my leg.

Finally, I went sailing. Never again! Before we had even left the port, I felt really ill and I couldn't stop vomiting.

Now I've taken up knitting. I haven't lost any weight, but at least I'm happy.

That would be great, thanks a lot. — Это будет отлично, спасибо большое.

Yes please, I haven't got a clue what I'm doing. — Да, пожалуйста, я понятия не имею, что я делаю.

Would you? Thanks, I don't know how to do it. — Правда? Спасибо, я не знаю, как это сделать.

Refusing — отказ

No, it's alright thanks. I know what I'm doing.
— Нет, все в порядке, спасибо. Я знаю,
что я делаю.

I'd rather do it myself. Thanks, anyway. — Я
бы предпочел сделать это сам. Спасибо, в любом случае.

Don't worry about it. I can do it on my own.
— Не беспокойтесь об этом. Я могу сделать это сам.
