

Traditional Indian Cuisine

Traditional Indian Food

Indian food is perhaps best known for spicy, saucy curries and for flavorful meats and breads. There, ingredients like coconut, ginger, tamarind, and curry leaves are typical, and vegetarian and fish dishes are eaten more frequently than meat.

Traditional Indian Curry

It is a favorite dish for countless people worldwide. There are many many types of curry to be explored, featuring meats such as chicken, fish, lamb and goat, and also vegetarian curries.

Traditional Indian Breads

Puri is a deep-fried dough puffed up like a crispy balloon. It tastes so good when flavored with garlic.

National Desserts- Sweet and Beverage Desserts in India is very diverse.

Imarti

Chikki

Besan laddu

National drinks

As for drinks, the Indians prefer tea. It is usually strong and drinking milk. Coffee in the country is no less popular. This drink is made oriental, adding to the flavor essence pink.

Chaach

Buttermilk and Lassi are well famous for its unique flavour.

Lassi

The most popular and traditional Yogurt based.

Solkadi

Sol kadi is a popular drink around coastal India, It is a refreshing Konkani drink a hint of kokum and a light coconut base.

