

The Present Perfect to show Result

People feel bored, sad or happy as a result of some actions or events.

Look at the children.

What do they feel like?

Why?

The girl is happy. Why? (get a “5”)

She has got a “5”!

The children are scared. Why?
(see a monster)

They have seen a monster

The boy is crying. Why? (lose his toy car)

He's lost his toy car.

The boy is upset. Why? (fail his test)

He has failed
his test

The girl is surprised. Why? (see an elephant)

She has seen an elephant!

The girl is sad. Why?
(her mum ...go to work)

Her mum has gone to work.

The girl is crying. Why?
(hurt her finger)

She has hurt her finger.

The boy is disgusted. Why?
(eat something bad)

He has eaten
something bad.

The boy is happy. Why? (find his dog)

He has found his dog!