

So many countries all over the world
So many people life tales told
Different cities, languages, poems,
Amazing traditions, legends, stories.

We travel East, we travel West
To know so much is best,
If South is warm, North is cold,
We start our trip and off we go!

SYMBOLS OF ENGLAND, SCOTLAND, WALES AND NORTHERN IRELAND.

ENGLAND

- The capital of England is London.

The red rose is the national symbol of England. The flower has been adopted as England's emblem since the time of the Wars of the Roses - civil wars (1455-1485) between the royal house of Lancaster (whose emblem was a red rose) and the royal house of York (whose emblem was a white rose).

The flag of England is called the St. George's Cross after the name of the patron saint of the country. A story dating back to the 6th century tells that St George rescued a maiden from fire-breathing dragon.

SCOTLAND

- The capital of Scotland is Edinburgh.

- The national emblem and the symbol of Scotland is the flower called the thistle. The thistle, a prickly-leaved purple flower which was first used in the 15th century as a symbol of defence.

The flag of Scotland is called after the name of patron saint of the country - the St. Andrew's Cross. St. Andrew was one of Christ's twelve apostles. Some of his bones are said to have been brought to Scotland during the 4th century.

Wales

- Cardiff is the capital of Wales.

- The national symbol of Wales is the daffodil. St David's Day is commemorated by the wearing of daffodils or leeks. Both plants are traditionally regarded as national emblems.

- The Red Dragon is the name of the flag of Wales. The Welsh dragon does not appear on the flag of the UK because when the first Union Flag was created in 1606, Wales was already united with England from the 13th century.

Northern Ireland

- Belfast is the capital of Northern Ireland.

- The national symbol of the Northern Ireland is the clover (the shamrock). According to the legend, St. Patrick, the patron of Ireland, illustrated the concept of the Holy Trinity with the help of shamrock during the process of Christianization of the state.

- The flag of Northern Ireland is called the St. Patrick's Cross. Now the Union Jack is Northern Ireland's official flag. The well known Red Hand Flag (shown at the bottom) has not been officially used since 1973.

A short rest.

THE UNITED KINGDOM OF GREAT BRITAIN AND NORTHERN IRELAND

- National symbols may be official and unofficial. Flag and anthem refer to the first group, while floral and fauna emblems, folk costume or some signs are associated with a state by its residents and other nations. However, all of them reflect country's history and traditions.
- One of the most interesting legends is about how the thistle became the emblem of Scotland. The legend tells of how Vikings tried to attack a party of Scottish warriors under cover of darkness. To avoid noise the king ordered his band of Vikings to remove their footwear. Unfortunately, one of the attackers stood on the prickly thistle and shrieked in pain. The warriors were alerted of the attack and Vikings were defeated by the Scots.
- In gratitude of this victory, the plant became known as the Guardian Thistle and was then adopted as the national symbol of Scotland.
- There's no historical evidence to back up the tale, however the story was probably based on a real event in the history of Scotland.
