Margaret Thatcher

Margaret Thatcher was the first prime minister in Europe. She was born in the small English town in 1925. Her father was a grocer. He earned very little money. Margaret worked hard and went to Oxford University, where she studied chemistry. In 1951 she married Denis Thatcher. He was a rich businessman. They had twins a girl and a boy. She loved politics and didn't have any other interests. She needed only four hours' sleep. She became Prime Minister of Great Britain in 1979. She was a very strong person. A lot of people were afraid of her. She resigned in 1990, but she didn't to resign.
