

ENGLISH TEA

Traditionally the English drink tea
six or seven times a day:
in bed,
at breakfast,
at lunch,
during the day and
at 5 o'clock.

Prince Charles II

Catherine of Braganza

In 1662 Prince Charles II married the Portuguese princess, Catherine of Braganza, who brought to the court the habit of drinking tea.

Firstly tea had the success among rich men, and then among other English citizens.

The popularity of tea was formed slowly but FOREVER.

A mug

Nowadays the English usually drink tea with milk and sometimes with sugar in a mug.

sugar

They like strong tea.

In England they say jokingly:
“The test of good tea is simple.
If the spoon stand up in it,
then it is strong enough;
if the spoon starts to wobble,
it is a feeble makeshift”.

Even very slightly formal events can be a cause for cups and saucers instead of mugs.

There are two types of tea rituals – AFTERNOON TEA and HIGH or FIVE O’CLOCK TEA. They haven’t great differences.

ENGLISH TEA RITUAL

For English tea ceremony you need:

1. A table covered by a white or blue tablecloth

2. A small vase with fresh white flowers

3. Napkins

4. A teapot with tea

5. A tea cup and a saucer

6. A dessert plate

7. A teaspoon, a fork and a knife

8. A jug with milk or cream

9. A tea strainer with a saucer for it

10. A sugar-bowl with sugar cubes

11. A tea-cozy

HOW TO MAKE ENGLISH TEA

1. Fill the kettle with cold water

2. Boil the water.

3. Warm the pot.

5. Pour hot water into the pot.

6. Place a tea strainer over the top of the cup and pour the tea in. Add some milk.

7. Place a tea-cozy on the teapot to keep the tea warm.

That's all – you have a nice cup of English tea.

*If you want, you can add some sugar.
Tea can be served with plenty of scones, teacakes,
Ginger bread with salted butter, large-cell waffles,
Creams and jams and many-many other snacks.
Enjoy your tea!*

I think that this English tradition is a lovely way to spend time with friends in a genteel and special atmosphere.

Cutting a long story short, let's take a nice cup of tea!
