Sunny summer day Robert played in the street with his dog. He called my mother and said urgently to go home, but in the appointment time he didn't come home.

Mom got excited and called again to find out why he did not come home in time. But why Robert did not answer the phone calls mom?

But suddenly parents heard as the door scratching dog, it is why it was one. And where is missing Robert? They called all the friends of Robert, but nobody knew anything((((!!!

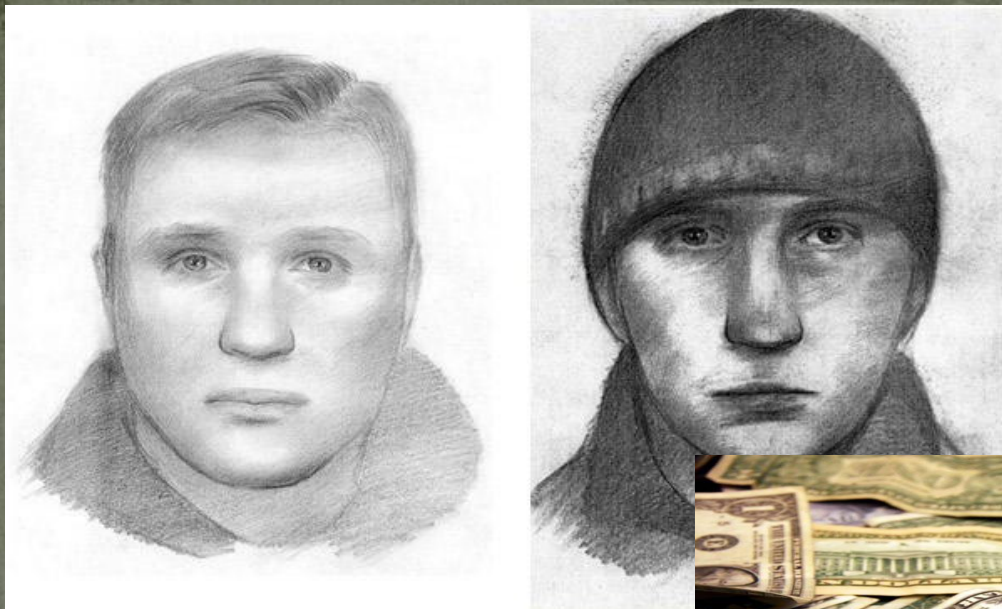

It was evening. In a panic, his father went to look for Robert. But it was nowhere boy. His parents went to the police to report the missing child.

The police suspect in the abduction of the boy escaped a month ago to the offender or his uncle Charles (for debt repayment for a house).

Parents of Robert trying to find urgently the necessary sum of money. Somehow, mother of Robert checking morning mailbox, finds a piece of paper, where it says that their son in the order and not to worry. A week passed, the kidnappers again contacted the parents of the child informing them that the time of search of money has expired and if they do not provide the necessary sum of money that they would not see his son never

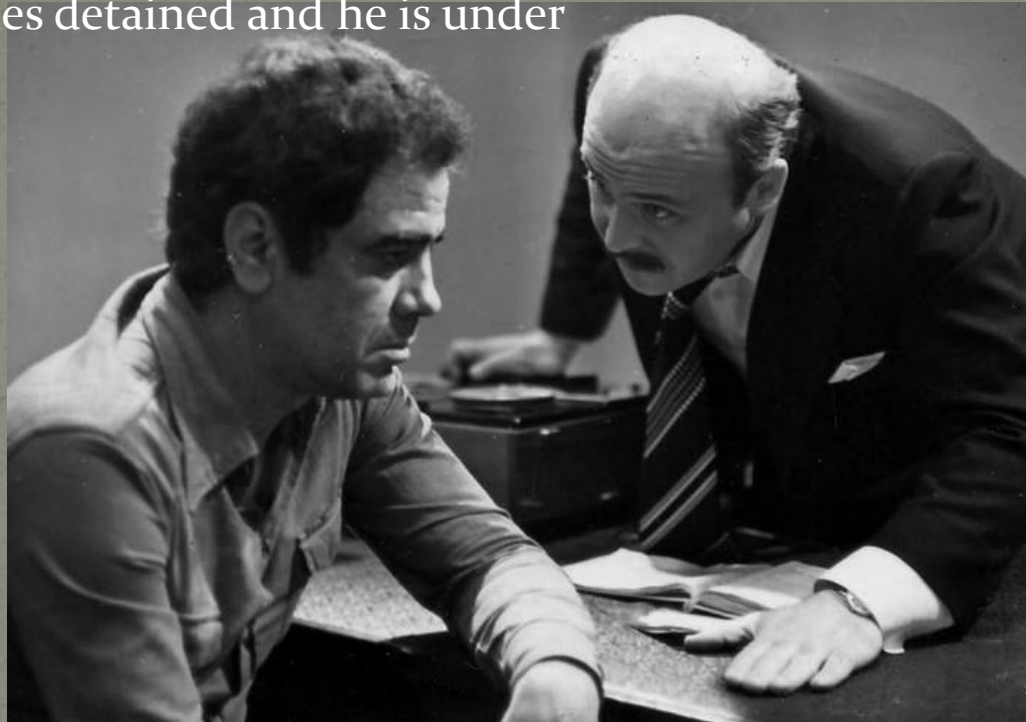

On the glade where they played the boy and the dog was not one of the clues which would have helped the police in the investigation of the abduction. Trimming their lawn father Robert found a ring from mailbox where previously it was found messages from the kidnappers. He showed the ring to his wife.

Seeing him she remembered that her brother Charles was similar. But still she hoped that he was not guilty of the abduction of Robert. She took the ring to the police, Charles detained and he is under investigation.

Investigators interrogated Charles, and learned that the ring he sold to get at least some money to pay off the debt for the house))))But they failed to reach the middleman as the owner of a pawnshop died of a stroke. The police nor was no clue how to capture the kidnappers. And Charles had to let go with a subscription about not departure from the country.

The kidnappers have agreed about the meeting and the transfer of money from the family of the boy in a public Park. There they would give the boy in return for a ransom. Father Robert put the money in the trash in the Park near the fountain. At this moment the whole Park was filled with police officers dressed in civilian clothes.

Father Robert returned home and saw that Robert came home. For those who are calling on the home phone and mum picked it up, she was told that the criminals were caught. These were the escaped from prison offender month ago and the owner of the pawnshop which cleverly deceived police faked his death!!!
