

Diran
Adebayo

Education and career

Diran Adebayo (born 30 August 1968) is a British novelist, cultural critic and broadcaster best known for his vivid portrayals of modern London life and his distinctive use of language.

Publications

- Some Kind of Black (1997)
- My Once Upon A Time (2001)
- New Writing 12 (2004)
- Underwords: The Booktrust London Short Story Competition Anthology (as co-author) (2005)
- Ox-Tales: Air (as co-author) (2009)
- The Ballad of Dizzy and Miss P (pending)

WINNER OF THE 1996 SAGA PRIZE

Diran Adebayo

some kind of black

'Funny, smart and attractively tough ... magnificent and seductively Nineties'

JULIE MYERSON

diranadebayo.com

Thank you for your attention