

Do you know what doctor to go to?

A close-up photograph of a yellow plastic pill bottle lying on its side, with numerous white, oval-shaped pills spilling out onto a light-colored surface. The pills are in sharp focus in the foreground, while the bottle is slightly blurred in the background.

What ancient languages are used to name doctors?

Latin and Greek

What does the word
LOGIST mean?

A person who understands,

What doctor specializes in skin diseases?

Dermatologist

A photograph of two surgeons in an operating room. They are wearing blue scrubs, blue bouffant caps, and surgical masks. The surgeon on the left is also wearing glasses and is focused on a patient lying on the operating table. The surgeon on the right is assisting. The patient is covered with a yellow drape. In the background, there are several large, circular surgical lights mounted on the ceiling. The overall scene is brightly lit, typical of an operating room.

What do surgeons do?

They operate on people

WHO WILL YOU VISIT
IF YOU HAVE PROBLEMS WITH YOUR STOMACH?

GASTROENTEROLOGIST

An optician will prescribe you...

Glasses

How do you call a doctor who is not a very good doctor?

A quack

You did a great job!
That's all for now!
See you soon!

