

Muravjevsky Wild Animals Park

Done by Mark Spitsyn, Form 6A
Conducted by N.G.Spytsyna
Chigirinskaya School
2011

Hypothesis: Does Muravjovsky Wild Animals Park have a great importance for saving the environment?

Alm: To pay attention to the meaning of nature parks for keeping the plant and animal world safe.

Tasks:

1. To learn the opportunities of nature parks in defending the plant and animal world.
2. To investigate the activities of the park.
3. To make a conclusion of the topic.

It's a beautiful place because there are about 500 kinds of plants here.

Birches, oaks and pines

Hills of rhododendron, fields of irises, lilies and other wildflowers are spread everywhere in the park .

There are 200 species of different birds,
20 endangered birds, among them: stores,
cranes and many others.

Beautiful cranes are the main richness of the park. There are 15 kinds of them there.

Stores and cranes are passage birds.
In winter they are in China, Japan and Korea.

Birds' nests

The park initiates different programs.
They restored the population of swan-geese .

Keepers care about the birds, they feed and watch them, learn their associations and defend them, improve the living-places.

Scientists from Asia, Europe and America come here every year to watch and study rare birds.

It's better for birds to live in the Wild Animals Park.

The park passes many festivals.

School-children from all over Amur Region participate in drawing competitions.

Every summer many schoolchildren from Amur Region and other regions of the Far East, China and the USA spend time there, taking part in the ecology-linguistic camp.

They study nature, learn how to help animals and plants, how to behave correctly in forests, discussing the problem of cranes preservation and their inhabiting places. And, of course, they practice speaking English, Chinese and Russian.

Every year fires destroy large areas of the park, damaging plant and animal world.

Muravjovsky Wild Animals Park does an active work in defending birds, improving the living-places, restoring the populations, ecological education of children, paying attention of society to the plant and animal world problems, improving of international communication.

Let's keep and care Muravjovsky Wild Animals Park!

