But computer skills are one of the most important to know in the modern world.

Science in 1980s computers have expended everyone's life;

it is hard to imagine today's world without email or finding information in the Internet.

Even doctors and school teachers are in need of such skills because they have to process the results of the laboratory tests or make PowerPoint presentations.

Computers give us the ability to communicate with distant relatives and friends.

It is not necessary to publish paper books in the modern world.
Enough to put books in the Internet.
