Robert Burns

- Robert Burns.
- Robert Burns (25 January 1759 - 21 July 1796) was a Scottish poet and a lyricist. Robert Burns was the most famous national poet of Scotland who wrote poems and songs in standard English and in a Scots dialect.
- Robert Burns was born in Alloway, a small village in Scotland. He was the eldest of seven children of William Burnes, a self-educated farmer. Robert lived in poverty and had to work hard all his childhood.
- He had little regular schooling. He got much of his education from his father - reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and history. Later, he had home education with an intelligent teacher John Murdoch.
- Burns not only wrote poems, he also collected Scottish folk songs. People loved him because he told them about love, friendship, poor life, beautiful nature in his poems.
- Scottish people are proud of Robert Burns and celebrate his birthday as a great holiday.

My love is like a red, red rose
That's newly sprung in June :
My love is like the melody
That's sweetly played in tune.

As fair art thou, my bonnie lass,
So deep in love am I :
And I will love thee still, my dear,
Till a' the seas gang dry:

Till a' the seas gang dry, my dear,
And the rocks melt wi' the sun :
And I will love thee still, my dear,
While the sands o' life shall run.

And fare thee weel, my only love,
And fare thee weel a while!
And I will come again, my love,
Thou' it were ten thousand mile.

Robert Burns, 1794

Scottish folk song

- Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And never brought to mind?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And days of auld lang syne?

For auld lang syne, my dear,
For auld lang syne,
We'll take a cup o' kindness yet
For auld lang syne.
