

Sightseeing in Minsk

Trinity Suburb

KANSTANTIN LASHKEVICH

One of the chief glories of Minsk is Trinity Suburb, a delight of every visitor of taste. It is a tangle of narrow streets lined with fascinating little shops. Delightful small houses seem to whisper their secrets to each other across the cobbled
way. It's the way Minsk used to look like before
The Second World War.
We also call it an Old Town

The Trinity Suburb is the oldest part of Minsk. It consists of many low-dwelling houses and the distance between them is very small.

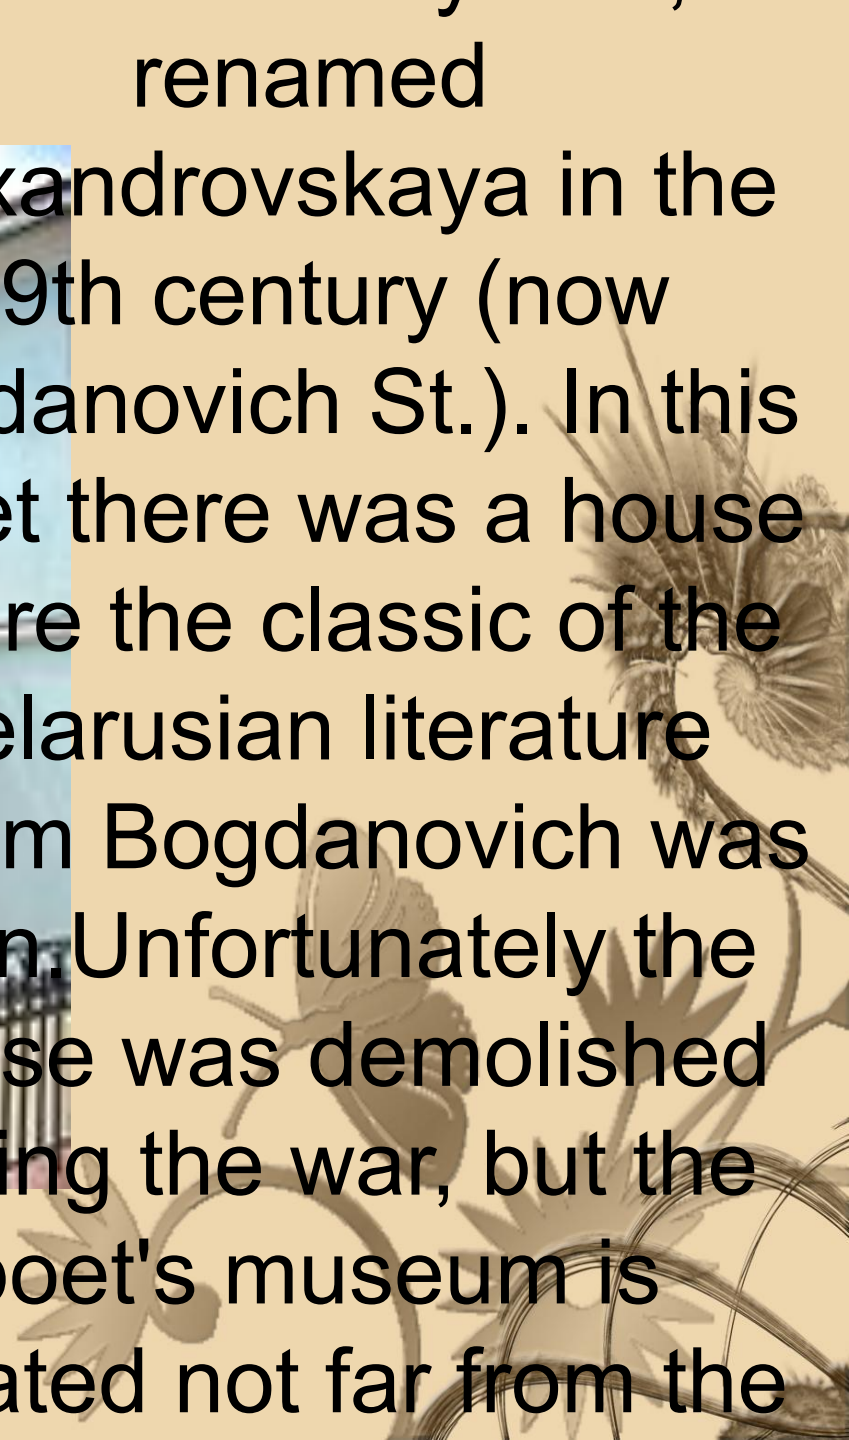

Along with modern buildings, you will come across old churches and monuments. To have an insight into the old Minsk, travel to the east of the Svisloch River, where Trinity Suburb (Troitskoye Predmestie) was rebuilt in the 18th–19th century style.

renamed

Alexandrovskaya in the 19th century (now Bogdanovich St.). In this street there was a house where the classic of the Belarusian literature Maxim Bogdanovich was born. Unfortunately the house was demolished during the war, but the poet's museum is situated not far from the

One of the chief glories of Minsk...
The Trinity Suburb...
A delight for every visitor...

Exercises

- 1. Where is Trinity Suburb situated?
- 2. What was the suburb's high street?
- 3. What museum is situated in the suburb?
- 4. What century style was Trinity Suburb rebuilt in?
- 5. What river is situated nearby the suburb?
- 6. What is your favorite sight in Minsk?

Exercises

- 1. I wish I (have) more free time to visit (достопримечательности) in Minsk
- 2. If only you (can) show me the place you're talk about (прямо сейчас)!
- 3. I wish we (visit) National Art Museum last time. But now, when we haven't any time, we (должны) do it.
- 4. If only it (not rain) when we went to the (экскурсия)!