

The background image shows a classroom from the back of the room. Several children are seated at desks, with their hands raised high in the air, indicating an interactive lesson. In the foreground, the back of a girl's head with dark hair in a ponytail and a red shirt is visible. To her left, a boy in a light blue shirt also has his hand raised. Further back, other children's hands are visible against a dark chalkboard filled with faint, illegible writing. The overall atmosphere is one of active participation in a lesson.
