

Зимняя прогулка

The background of the slide is a painting of a winter forest. The scene is covered in a thick layer of snow. Several tall, dark evergreen trees stand prominently, their branches dusted with white. In the foreground, there are some bare, thin branches and a small, dark, winding path or stream that leads towards the background. The overall color palette is dominated by whites, blues, and greens, with some darker tones for the trees and path.
