Храм св. Софии в Константинополе (6 век)

Храм св. Софии (разрез)

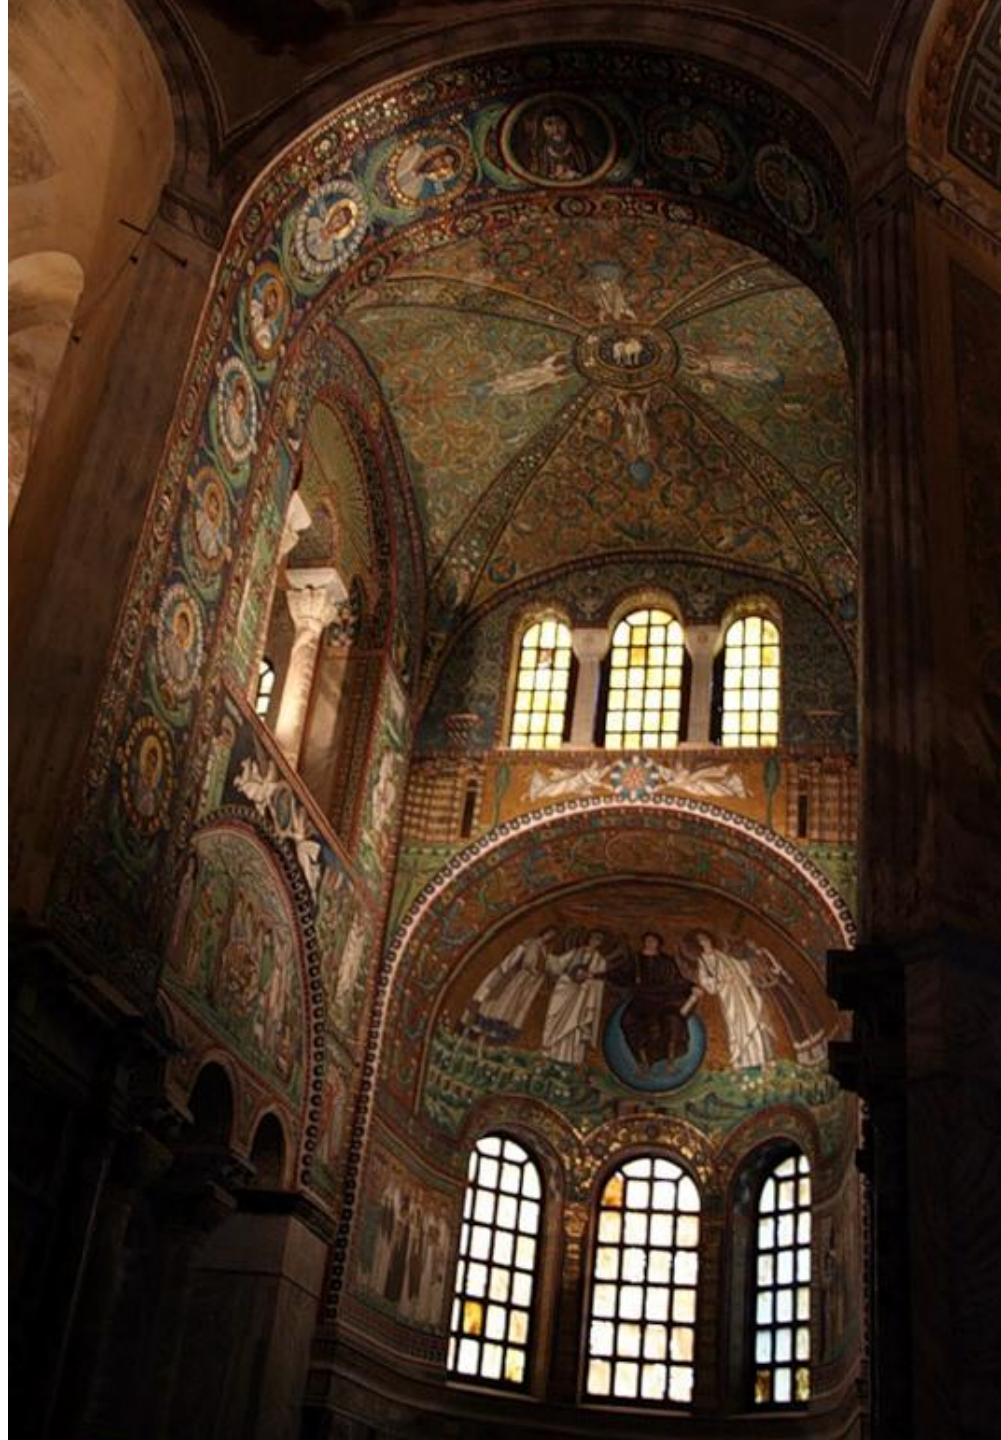

Храм св. Софии (интерьер)

A photograph of a corner of a room, likely a mosque or a place of worship, featuring intricate Islamic art. The ceiling is painted with a vibrant blue background and a dense, repeating pattern of stylized yellow and gold flowers. The walls are also decorated with blue backgrounds and white Arabic calligraphy. A prominent feature is a large, stylized inscription in white script on a blue background, framed by a yellow and black striped border. The calligraphy is written in a highly decorative, cursive style, characteristic of the Maghrebi or Andalusí script. The overall aesthetic is one of rich, traditional Islamic artistry.
