

A man in a red turban and outfit is riding a large elephant. The elephant is decorated with colorful fabrics, including a large red cloth with a floral pattern. The scene is set in front of a yellow building with domes and arches, likely a palace or temple, with a body of water in the foreground. The text "Индия – жемчужина Востока" is overlaid on the image.

Индия – жемчужина Востока

A photograph of the Fort of Jaisalmer at night. The fort is a massive, multi-tiered structure made of yellow sandstone, illuminated by warm, golden lights. It features numerous arched windows, balconies, and a crenellated parapet. A small flag is visible on the highest point. In the foreground, there are dark, silhouetted trees and a few bright lights. The sky is a deep blue.
