A close-up photograph of a section of the Voynich manuscript, showing several lines of text written in the characteristic Voynich script. The parchment is aged and yellowed, with some dark stains and a small hole visible. The script consists of various symbols, including circles, triangles, and lines, arranged in a regular, flowing manner. Some words are underlined with a single line, while others are underlined with a double line. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but ancient document.
