

Walking through London

London is famous not only for its museums ,architectural ensembles and pubs. There are a lot of amazing sights, nothing similar to which is not in the rest of the world.

The London eye

The London eye.
Height 135 m-the tallest ferris wheel in the world. On it you can make half-hour
flight over the capital
of great Britain,
admiring with magnificent kinds.

Royal Botanic Gardens

Kew Gardens spread over an area of 300 acres. They can see more than 40 000 species of plants. It offers a Japanese garden, a rock garden and two art galleries.

The London Aquarium

Includes hundreds of species of fish and other sea creatures.

This is the only place in London where you can see sharks , giant sea eel, piranhas and stingrays. Visitors can even touch crabs or sea stars.

London dungeon

London dungeons are located deep under the stones of historic bridges. You will be immersed in a brutal and bloody past, preserved here in all their terrible details in these terrible labyrinths, which are more than 2000 years, a realistic to life horror stories that have occurred throughout the history of London.

London Planetarium

London planetarium delights its visitors with star shows. Today's visitors can make virtual star travel thanks to the most perfect in Europe star projector. In interactive space attractions you can learn about black holes, take part in the search for extraterrestrial civilization and feel, what will your weight on Jupiter- the largest planet in the solar system.

Royal hospital Chelsea

Are now known to not like a medical facility, and as a place where every may be the most aristocratic
to the Chelsea
flower show

Buckingham palace

Buckingham palace – Palace of the Queen of England. To get into the Palace at a time when the Queen holiday, usually August- september in private chambers, of course, is not allowed, but rooms where ceremonies and receptions, please. The Palace looks elegant and tasteful. Gives a special feeling, the fact that this is not a restoration of previous years, and current residence.

